REVENUE BONDS

Council had before them for consideration an ordinance authorizing the issuance of "City of Austin, Texas combined Utility Systems Revenue Bonds" in a maximum principal amount of $605,000,000.

Lanny Sinkin said he has filed bribery charges against McCall, Parkhurst & Horton with the District Attorneys office. He asked Council to call a bond election and not sell bonds today.

Michael T. McConnell urged Council to hold an election on bonds.

Gary Johnson, secretary, Coalition for Open Government, told Council to hold a bond election, that they do not want to have to have a recall election.

Mary Akin wants the City to default on STNP. Pat Akin and Tom Cook oppose the issuing of revenue bonds without election. The following people also spoke against the issuing of revenue bonds without an election: Darrell Fletcher, Steve Viers, Regina Schultz, Nina Butts, Jane Warren, Shudde Fath, Elliott Naishtat, Smoot Carl-Mitchell, Fred Ebner, Bill Simmons and Dave Elliott.

Councilmember Shipman said this Council inherited a bad economic liability. It is a hard decision but she does not want to raise electric rates again. Councilmember Spaeth agreed. He supports cancellation but said default is out of the question. Councilmember Duncan said there is no other option but to sell bonds. Councilmember Rose said electric rates cannot be increased further. Councilmember Urdy said electric rates should not be raised except as a last resort to prevent default. Mayor Mullen said if a lawsuit is filed, then the bills will go up.

Motion

Motion

The Council, on Mayor Pro Tem Trevino's motion, Mayor Mullen's second, closed the public hearing. (7-0 Vote)

BRACKENRIDGE 2000 PROJECT

The Council, on Mayor Pro Tem Trevino's motion, Councilmember Duncan's second, adopted a resolution authorizing JV-5 (Joint Venture Five) for architectural services in connection with the Brackenridge 2000 Project. CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS PROGRAM No. 84/84-01. (4-3 Vote, with Mayor Mullen, Councilmembers Shipman and Spaeth voting No.)

Prior to the vote there was discussion concerning the selection since JV-5 was not the prime recommendation, Barnes, Landes, Goodman and Youngblood were. George Nalle Jr. asked Council to give the contract to someone else because BLGY designed the Travis County Jail. Mr. Ridings, Director of Public Works, said that problem arose from engineering design, not architectural. He said there are not similarities in the two projects and BLGY should not be penalized. Jim Pfluger recommended that the project might be separated into several parts. Mr. Spurck, Director of Brackenridge Hospital, said the project needs to be handled by one group and does not recommend a division. Concern was expressed about rotating work among the community.
